Press - Photography - PR - Editorials - Weddings
Don't Just advertise, tell your story!

Company Profile

Founded on more than 35 years of Public Relations and Photographic publishing, we now produce commissioned editorial copy, features and digital photography for our clients with the sole aim of getting them noticed.

Our extensive network of local and national contacts and syndications ensure that your company is only one article away from the public eye.

Studio Tristan Media will provide your business with simple and effective words and pictures and send the finished package directly to the key personnel within the local publishing media so that they can lift the work straight onto their pages or airwaves and tell the world about you.

Your business will also receive the completed editorial and photographs, copyrighted to you for future use as you wish.

We will also provide you with a measured rateable analysis of all coverage achieved in the published media and show you what you would have spent if you had paid for advertising that commanded the same 'ad space' as our 'advertorial' copy.
